To whom it may concern,

Building and Restoring Abilities Via Equine (BRAVE) is a team of therapists, and parents working together to raise funds to assist with covering the cost of the equine facility fee by 100% (~$40 per child). B.R.A.V.E. Child, Inc works to make this amazing program accessible to children who would benefit from hippotherapy or equine therapy services. This allows parents of children without or with disabilities or delays to focus on their child's development and progress.

First off, I want to thank you so much for considering being a sponsor/donor. When deciding to become a sponsor/donor, you are not only helping our children, but also helping support a local business. Building Futures Pediatric Therapy (BFPT) has teamed up with a wonderful non-profit organization, Outdoor Wilderness Learning (OWL) Equine Center, to provide horses, a leader, and side walkers that are needed for the safety of the children. All money donated will go towards the facility fee at the OWL Equine Center, so that we can continue to offer hippotherapy or equine therapy services to our participants. Your donation would take away the financial burden that some of our parents face by covering the fee needed to attend hippotherapy or equine therapy services.

What is Hippotherapy? Hippotherapy is a specialized, hands-on approach to therapy involving horses. It is performed by an occupational or physical therapist and utilizes equine movement to help the child better reach their goals; whether the child is working on balance, core strength, motor planning, attention to task or fine motor skills, the horse's movement is used to stimulate the overall body. Therapy can be used to address motor planning skills and strengthen the child's body and mind by allowing them to focus on an activity, enhance self-confidence, and master fine motor skills needed for Activities of Daily Living.

What is Equine-Therapy? Equine-Therapy addresses emotional and social growth. As well as how to properly handle and ride a horse. Equine knowledge encourages leadership, confidence, teamwork, and improves problem-solving skills.

We offer 3 semesters a year; Spring, Summer, and Fall.

Any donation amount, large or small will benefit our children and families tremendously.
